Joseph Key was an Exciseman, based in Nuneaton at the time of the publication of his first two books of Psalms and Anthems in 1774 and 1779. He died and was buried there on 24th September 1784, and his Wife subsequently published his two other books of music in 1785 and c.1790. He is known also to have published a book of 18 marches, although only one part of these has survived. This trans. © Edwin and Sheila Macadam 2003/2019
