It is likely that Desertion first appeared in Eagleton's Sacred Harmony, n.d. , set to 'See Lord before thy throne of grace'.

The tune was first published in America in 1817 in A Selection of Sacred Music, compiled by Samuel Dyer of Baltimore, Maryland.

This version, with an editorial addition of Eagleton's fuguing entry in bar 13 for the altos*, is preferred and is taken from a copy of Dyer's 2nd edition, 1819, owned by Sheila and Edwin Macadam.

Tr. f That bears us up from hell.
To crush our guil - ty frames.
And drive thy foes a - way.

A. f from hell, That bears us up from hell.
our frames, To crush our guil - ty frames.
a - way, And drive thy foes a - way.

T. f bears us up from hell, That bears us up from hell.
crush our guil - ty frames, To crush our guil - ty frames.
drive thy foes a - way, And drive thy foes a - way.

B. f bears us up from hell, That bears us up from hell.
crush our guil - ty frames, To crush our guil - ty frames.
drive thy foes a - way, And drive thy foes a - way.

3 Almighty goodness cries "Forbear,"
And strait the thunder stays;
And dare we now provoke his wrath,
And weary out his grace?

4 Lord, we have long abus'd thy love,
Too long indulg'd our sin,
Our aching hearts e'en bleed to see What rebels we have been.

Revd John Eagleton, b. Coventry, 1785, was a scholar at the Revd Burder's Sunday School in Coventry.

He became in charge of the Congregational Church in Vicar Lane, Coventry, and ministered successively in Birmingham, and Huddersfield, where he died in 1832.

Eagleton's Sacred Harmony contains 27 of his hymn tunes, including Justification, found in several Victorian hymnals

such as the Methodist Hymn Book and Centenary Tune Book. HTI 15667
